EDUFY

Setareh (She Was My Star) (poem)

Maximilian Bahrami · 30 October 2026

She was my star... but even stars fall. And when she left— the whole sky cracked.

Setareh (She Was My Star)

Genre: Cosmic Sad Romantic Hip-Hop

[Intro – echoey, fading synths] She was my star... but even stars fall. And when she left— the whole sky cracked.

[Hook – melodic, spacey vibe] Setareh, where did you go? Burned me slow, now I'm cold. Tanha shodam, too this night, Your love was wrong but felt so right. (Stars don't lie... but you did.) Setareh... you killed my sky. Setareh... even stars cry.

[Verse 1 – smooth rap, lo-fi beat drops in] We made wishes on comets, Now I sleep in silence. Your voice like gravity, Pulled me in just to vanish.

Too ghashang, vali sargardan, You left me in black holes, bi rang o bon. I gave you a universe in my chest, You turned it to void, and left the rest.

[Bridge – melodic, space sounds in background] Shabha bā to mesle rooya bood, But love became a lie I misunderstood. Zakhmam deep, mesle akharin khoon, You were my sun... turned eclipse too soon.

[Emotional Breakdown Verse – raw, spoken-scream style like XXXTentacion] You said you'd never disappear— But you left like a ghost in a solar flare. How can I breathe in a vacuum, girl? You took my air, my light, my world. Why'd you promise galaxies— Then crash me in your apathy? I scream your name into the stars, But they just echo back my scars.

[Hook – repeat with layered vocals and harmonies] Setareh, where did you go? Burned me slow, now I’m cold. Tanha shodam, too this night, Your love was wrong but felt so right. Setareh… you killed my sky. Setareh… even stars cry.

[Outro – slow fade, whispering over ambient pad] Raftee… vali man hanooz toosetam. (You left… but I’m still in you.) Setareh… My sky died with you.